Claims that living reptile-like forms have been found in fossilized shells have appeared in the literature for many years. These claims are difficult to comprehend if not misinterpreted. Most of these claims appeared in collections of the Royal Tyrrell Museum of Paleontology and were not noticed or understood by their then authors. In this paper, the history of these claimed fossil turtles from Alkurian strata, such as the late Eocene of France and early Oligocene of Mexico and Argentina, as well as of the evolution of these fossils from the Alkurian of Kazakhstan, will be reviewed.Federal Rules of Evidence The Federal Rules of Evidence were created by Congress in 1975 as an alternative to the Judicial Conference of the United States' Advisory Committee on Evidence Rules. The Federal Rules are codified in the United States Code under title 28, chapter 69 of the United States Code. The rules were adopted by the Supreme Court on December 1, 1975. They were updated in the Judiciary Act of 1990. References Category:1975 in law Category:United States federal lawNutrition in androgen deficiency and prostate cancer. In men with prostate cancer, any factor that contributes to androgen deficiency is considered to play a role in its development and progression. The precise nature of this role is not established. For example, dietary components may reduce androgen levels or the availability of nutrients necessary for androgen production or metabolism. Nutritional factors can therefore be considered in prostate cancer etiology, screening, diagnosis and treatment. This review discusses nutrition in relation to androgen deficiency and prostate cancer and explores the evidence and significance of an association of dietary components with prostate cancer.Analysis of amino acids and polyphenols in f678ea9f9e
